

Oravec brings experience

Greg Oravec would be a breath of fresh air for Port St. Lucie. I'm a newcomer to the city from the Northeast, and I made it a point to attend some of our public meetings to see how the city is managed and particularly how the citizens are acknowledged.

One thing that showed this was the "Public to be Heard" segment of council meetings and how they were held right upfront. That didn't last long.

Last summer, our council voted to move the public segment to the end of council meetings. It shows me there is not much value placed on folks who feel compelled to attend meetings to make themselves heard.

Oravec would have been adamantly against such public disregard. When listening to him at council meetings, I could only wonder, "Why isn't this man the mayor?"

This is a man who does his homework and asks questions. Times are changing, folks; this is the man who has the confidence, energy, and experience to be our new mayor.
