Letter: Oravec would be a mayor who wouldn't need on-the-job training

As election time is fast approaching I hope voters are considering the advisability of having a mayor who does not require "on-the-job training."

Just as a car loan is different from a home loan municipal finance is different yet again. With the amount of debt that the city of Port St. Lucie is already encumbered with we desperately need Greg Oravec to be our mayor. In my opinion he is the only candidate who has the knowledge to comprehend from Day 1 all that being the mayor encompasses.

I feel he will be able to save the city, and thus the taxpayers, money. I also feel he would be instrumental by putting forth his best effort to prevent any more fiascos like Digital Domain and City Center.

Oravec is not only very knowledgeable, he is also a gentleman.
