Positive change on the horizon

With the mayoral election coming up, Port St. Lucie finds itself in a rare political position. Port St. Lucie has a candidate who is not just sincere in serving the city like the others, but also has deep knowledge, experience, drive and confidence to make real a positive change so long needed here — that person being Gregory J. Oravec.

I have known Greg from when he first started working at the city, some 12 years ago, and in my near 40 years of working with municipal governments, witnessing such a candidate is a first for me. Greg's abilities are so strong I have no doubt that as mayor, Greg will also positively affect the neighboring communities.
